Camp Directors: W.I.T.T.S Training Academy

This camp is designed to build better basketball players. Whatever it Takes to Succeed LLC (W.I.T.T.S), have used various resources to come up with skill sets every basketball player needs to work on. Identifying the skill set is just the beginning. We have come up with ways to equip each player with tools to improve each skill resulting in better performance and notable improvements at the end of camp. Our camp coaches have won state championships, played college and professional basketball, trained both professional and elite high school/college athletes and are currently coaching. So not only do they have dynamic experience that they bring to the court, but they collaboratively have many years of experience working with basketball players of all ages with different ranges of skills.
